WEST SIDE ALLIANCE S.C. 2014 EDITION - WEDNESDAY, JULY 23RD

FIFA O DEAR Misreported Scores; Holland back on Top!

FIFA miscalculated scores Tuesday night following competition and misrepresented that USA had climbed atop the tables. In fact USA and Argentina remain a point back of the Dutch side. Germany remain unsettled in unfamiliar territory at the bottom of the table. German coach Matt seemed rattled by Team USA member Reagan claiming the USA goal was to put Germany at the bottom. USA Coach Chablee had no comment.

COLOMBIA: "COACH THEMSELVES"
 Coach Paulo of Colombia, never shy from publicity at the FIFA World Cup, said his team was "so good" they could "coach themselves.". Coach Ben of Slavakia responded by leading his team in an Argentina cheer: ARG-N-TINA - clap, clap, clap....!

Stair-off between New Zealand & Slowvakia or prelude to a dance-off?

Conflict of Interest for All-Blacks Coach Wayne?

An expert eye on the tables may note that the team's points don't add up to the traditional 3 per win, and 1 per draw. Coach Wayne of New Zealand's All Black's has instituted and officiated an outside competition for "Bonus" points. "Relay race winners receive the extra points." Strangely the extra points were not helpful to a few "non" New Zealanders. FIFA will investigate. New odds:

- 2:1- Argentina win the cup; 20:1 Coach Mo gets too excited; 3:1 New Zealand win the next relay

Argentina was flying high after a 3-0 defeat of Germany. Coach Ryan believed his team was full of "Messi's". Coach Matt of Germany was upset the Americans were making fun of him, or maybe that his side had 3 points in 2 games.

Coach Matt and Germany happy (before Coach Chablee and Reagan of Team USA began trash talking.) Do the German uniforms not look suspiciously "American"?

The Dutch Side seen happy as can be after another V-I-C-T-O-R-Y. There is a question of age limit by Dutchman Brian, but FIFA has yet to rule. Coach Mo has yet to seem worried.
